

What does it take to accelerate ahupua'a stewardship in practice, in present-day?

A few things we've learned thus far...

Re-envision the Holistic Functions of Ahupua'a

Identify the environmental, cultural, social, and political processes that shape present-day ahupua'a.

Celebrate 'Ono o ka 'Āina

Care for and honor the unique biocultural resources and practices that make our spaces and places special.

Cultivate Enduring Opportunities for Stewardship Practitioners

Support practitioners through periods of growth, advancement, and transitions to enhance long-term resilience and adaptive capacity.

Re-establish Pilina 'Āina

Expand opportunities to develop and elevate experiential knowledge in planning and decision-making.

Elevate 'Ōiwi-centered Models to Steward for Generational Abundance

Identify and implement practices that support thriving communities over generations.
